

Intertecno merges into Artelia Italia the birth of a major player of the Italian Project Management and Engineering design sector

On 1st January 2017 Artelia Italia concluded a two-year integration process with the legal merge of Intertecno into Artelia Italy; as explained by its Managing Director Gabriele Scicolone, this is the final act of the deal signed on January 2015, by which Artelia Italia

S.p.A. - a subsidiary of the international multi-specialist engineering and project management group Artelia - acquired the 100% shares of Intertecno S.p.A. one of the most renowned Italian engineering firms in the real-estate sector.

This acquisition, consistent with the international growth plan of the Artelia Group, aimed at reinforcing the position of the Group in Italy where it has been operating for more than 15 years.

Since January 2015 Intertecno and Artelia Italia developed their activities on the market by acting in perfect synergy but keeping their own names to give the necessary time to their clients to metabolize the deal and not to lose the patrimony represented by the Intertecno brand in Italy, consolidated during more than 40 years of operations.

The former partners and top managers of Intertecno – represented by Alberto Romeo – have been continuing their involvement in the company confirming their full commitment to their Italian and international clients and are now part of Artelia Italia's management.

The integration of the two structures, give birth to a new leader of project management and engineering design in Italy with a turnover of about 30 million euros and more than 200 staff, having a strong growth plan 2020.

"Artelia Italia is a strategic hub for the international expansion of our Group. Artelia Italia delivers international standard integrated services in the field of project and construction management, engineering design and consultancy to accompany the development of its clients in Italy or on the international scene. We have a lot of ambition for its development both on its domestic market and abroad" explains Antoine Pigot, Managing Director of Artelia International. Artelia Italia operates mainly in the building construction, tertiary and industrial sectors, with specific expertise in the fields of luxury hospitality, offices, healthcare, residential and commercial buildings and a leading position on retail-multisite projects.
